The CSI-Nihilent e-Governance Awards 2012-13, was held on 14th December, 2013 at Visakhapatnam as part of the 48th CSI Annual Convention. This marked the eleventh anniversary of these Awards, instituted by the Special Interest Group on e-Governance of Computer Society of India [CSI SIGeGOV] and sponsored by Nihilent Technologies.

For 2012-13, there were three categories of Awards – Project, Sustenance and State. Subject to a set of stringent requirements, the nominations to the latter two categories were by invitation. For the former – the open, project category of Awards – 25 States and UTs participated and the number of nominations received exceeded 200 – a first for the Awards.

At the end of a rigorous assessment process, 45 entries [a little over 20% of the total Project category nominations received] were selected for the Project Category of Awards. They all deserve very special congratulations.

The State of Himachal Pradesh is a deserving winner of the Award of Excellence – State Category, for its holistic approach to the promotion of e-Governance in the State.

The eponymous Awards is privileged and grateful to have both his personal and Nihilent's corporate involvement. We would like to thank Shri Ravi Teja, Shri Shailabh Haldule and Shri Anoop Bharadwaj of Nihilent Technologies for their active involvement.

Counting from the past, the event at Visakhapatnam marked the eleventh anniversary of the CSI-Nihilent e-Governance awards. But looking to the future, the ceremony was but a first step, a fresh beginning, the first year of its journey towards the two decade goal. The overwhelming response with which 11th anniversary of the Awards was greeted only augurs well for this journey.

Award Process

The nominations to CSI-Nihilent e-Governance Awards are accepted only through a transparent, e-submission mode and the nominations are required to be authorized by a responsible Government authority. All nominations are evaluated by panel of eminent judges drawn from the academia, Government and industry. The judging process is a team effort to render the evaluation exercise completely objective.

For 2012-13, the multi-stage assessment process involved review of Expression of Interest and detailed nomination forms submitted in prescribed format, Field visit to shortlisted nominees to assess the degree to which the online submissions match the reality on the ground, and Presentation by the finalists' to Awards Committee members.

Every stage of the assessment process went through a conscious effort to reduce individual bias and provide for checks and balances. The scoring and ranking is carried out against the backdrop of Analytical Hierarchy Processing [AHP] methods

It is a non-negotiable and hallowed tradition of the CSI-Nihilent e-Governance Awards that all assessment steps shall conform to an unwavering adherence to integrity, diligence, and fairness. Further, it is the goal of the awards that assessments should serve to encourage and bring to prominence persevering effort of the Government functionaries who strive to bring out the best in e-Governance often under trying circumstances. In strict adherence to these two founding principles, the 200 plus nominations received for 2012-13 Awards under Project category were subjected to nearly 700 independent review actions by a team of nearly 30 experts - an exercise which consumed nearly 800 person days of effort of a most illustrious team of e-Governance experts drawn from the Government, Industry and the Academia. For the State Category and Sustenance categories of awards too, an appropriately rigorous exercise was carried out.

Given such rigour, it is no surprise that CSI-Nihilent e-Governance Awards is arguably one of the most coveted in the Country.

CSI SIG Publications- A Recap

CSI-Nihilent e-Governance Awards, an annual event since 2002 - held under the aegis of CSI's special interest group on e-Governance - has been a pioneering initiative for two reasons. Not only has it played a key role in recognising the inspiring efforts of officials from all corners of India who have strived to improve the quality of governance through a judicious use of ICT, it has also served as an important forum for exchange of knowledge relating to the domain of e-Governance.

In order to contribute to the e-Governance knowledge pool in the Country, an annual compendium has accompanied the awards process since 2006. The compendiums - listed below - are freely available for download from the Special Interest Group's website [www.csi-sigegov.org/publications.php]
